

Using AI to Revolutionize Product Development & Design Amy Wees

Come witness the revolutionary power of AI! Innovator and product development expert Amy Wees will show you exactly how to use artificial intelligence to generate awe-inspiring ideas, designs and mockups that are sure to leave your competitors in the dust. If you're stumped in moving forward with your ideas, don't miss this incredible presentation on how AI can give you a major leg up!

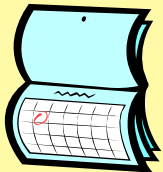

Amy Wees is the CEO of Amazing at Home E-Commerce Consulting, an internationally acclaimed company that has helped thousands of brands in launching their private label products on Amazon and other marketplaces. Not only is Amy a wealth of knowledge with product development, sourcing, marketing and sales, but she also co-founded the only multi-category tradeshow in LATAM!

Her courses and consulting have been highly rated in Amazon seller polls as some of the best in the world. To share her expertise and success strategies, Amy teaches classes at business organizations locally in San Antonio Texas, coaches entrepreneurs around the globe through virtual coaching sessions and hosts in-person events (<https://amazingathome.com>).

She also covers these topics on her weekly podcast "The Seller Round Table" (<https://sellerroundtable.com/>).
